The board is not unanimous in the idea of giving the rank of sergeant to any more appointees of the board, except those patrolmen who are in the regular order of promotion. It is believed that the giving of the clerk of the board the rank of sergeant was a mis-take. The promotion of the electrician to the rank of sergeant will carry with raise in his pay to that of ser-nt. The movement to raise Ladd's pay is regarded as a plan to make his position permanent at a sergeant's pay so that he will not be affected by any changes in the city government in the future.

POLI'S REVIEW

Pat Rooney with his own company in "Simple Simon Simple" took the audiences by storm at Poli's last evening, and the matinee performance. From the start his stay in Bridgeport promises to be one which will give pleasure to the theatre public for the week. The piece is one which fits the popular Pat to a T. It is brimful of lively comedy that is presented with a snap that is refreshing. The company of fourteen people includes Georg Thornton as the funny "Lil Mose" an of fourteen a sextette of diminutive little girls who dance and sing themselves into favor at once. The music is bright and catchy and the dancing is up to the standard that has made Pat Rooney a worthy son of his father. Marion Bent is not with Pat this ason and after six curtain calls yes terday afternoon he explained why in a neat little speech before the cur-tain. He said, "I thank you. Marion thanks you, and Patrick the Third thanks you. I tell you this so you will know we are not separated and will be with you next season if Mr. Poli is still keeping shop."

Isabelle Butler and Edward Bassett, a charming brunette will be rememe no appeal under the law as it now bered best by the public as the girl who was a feature in Barnum & Bailey's "Dip of Death." For several hundred performances she rode the famous dip through the air, in an automobile.
